

The return to retreading . . .

With staggering costs from all directions, transporters are finding themselves held at ransom in trying to control operating costs. Fuel and tyres generally represent the two highest operating costs for transporters, with tyres providing the only avenue of exploration to make a meaningful impact on cost savings.

With numerous options having being explored over the past number of years, Bandag has observed a Return to Retreading as many transporters realise the true value of the Bandag Retreading System.

More than 50 years ago, Bandag revolutionised the retreading industry with a pre-cure retreading system aimed primarily at reducing the operating costs of transporters.

It will come as no surprise to learn that over the length of this journey, the needs of transporters
