Service second to none... now where you need it most!

Fact: Uptime is crucial in the transport industry. The wheels must keep rolling, with time delays kept to a minimum, particularly when the consequences of a breakdown can mean the loss of a load or a vital contract in a sector where competition is already fierce.

With this in mind, the Bandag Truck Service (BTS) outlets and service units pride themselves on being ONE-STOP truck specialists, offering truck and tyre related services in a quick and professional manner.

And because fast and reliable service must be on hand when you need it most, these professional units are conveniently located close to main truck routes, forming part of the extensive Bandag service provider network.

BTS was first introduced to the South African transport industry in 2001. The concept has evolved into a unique solution for commercial transporters and is at the stage where it makes measurable differences to the bottom line of fleets that it services.

The evolution can clearly be seen in the introduction of the BTS Express concept - a fully-equipped service trailer that now allows BTS franchisees to take service delivery to the next level; where fleets need it most.... on the road!

With 26 BTS franchisees strategically located around South Africa, this now well-established concept has become yet another benchmark in this business with BTS franchisees also offering a host of invaluable management information and unparalleled services to complement their premium Bandag retreads. This extended service offering is all part of Bandag's philosophy to go the extra mile for its fleet customers, so that they in turn can achieve a favourably competitive position within their respective industries.

BTS franchisees live by the motto, 'Be Truck Smart', thereby clearly demonstrating that while tyres are the main focus, their operations are vehicle-centric, providing a holistic product/service package for total peace of mind. Service, Service, and more Service, comes naturally to a BTS!

So, the next time you need maintenance on your tyres, call your nearest BTS franchisee for a service experience second to none...
